

SEE HIM

©1994 Edward Grant, Inc.

You crossed my mind today
Lately you seem so far away
I see the pain that you're going through
But you tie my hands when I reach out to you

How can I show you the love that you need to see
And how can I tell you the truth and somehow make you believe
Maybe just one word or a simple smile
Will bring you to your knees, and you'll open your eyes and see him

You say that feelings change
And that things just aren't the same
But God's love and mine will never go away.
Please give me a chance to find the right words to say.
